PLAGIARISM POLICY

ELSA NL Law Review defines plagiarism as the use of another's ideas or words, in a way that delivers no credit to the original author. Plagiarism is not tolerated. A piece of work that contains plagiarism will not be published by the Law Review.

All work submitted to the ELSA Netherlands Law Review must be original and entirely the work of the author collaborating with the Law Review. All unoriginal concepts are referenced appropriately, using the correct citation illustrated in the Technical Guide. When in doubt, authors will communicate with editors of the Law Review to avoid any errors.

Any work that has been printed previously or concurrently in other publications is not eligible for submission to ELSA NL Law Review. The contributor must confirm that the work has not been distributed elsewhere.
